

Ann French

Ann French serves as District Support Facilitator for the western Kentucky region. Prior to her DSF tenure Ann worked as a district level administrator for Logan County Schools. Her duties included professional development coordinator, special instructional program supervisor and leading the district's Professional Growth Academy for new teachers. In a consulting capacity she has facilitated various areas of school reform including curriculum alignment, instruction, the Scholastic Audit/Review process and Comprehensive School Improvement Planning. Her teaching credits include intermediate and middle school science/language arts and K-12 arts education as well as serving as an interim principal.

Darlene Gee

The District Support Facilitator for the northeastern Kentucky School districts is Darlene Gee. Her experience as a Kentucky educator includes working for the past three years (2001-2004) as a Highly Skilled Educator and working in the Carter County school district prior to that. Throughout her career Darlene has participated in and facilitated many activities at the elementary, middle, high school, and district level including professional development training on various topics ranging from leadership to instructional strategies to school culture. Additionally she has facilitated professional development for superintendents, instructional supervisors, and principals as part of the Kentucky Virtual Learning Network and has served as both team chair and team member for many Scholastic Audits/Reviews, District Culture Audits, and Guided Self Studies.

Jerry Meade

Jerry Meade, retired teacher, principal, and central office administrator in Pike County's schools, works with fellow District Support Facilitator Carol Christian in the northern school districts including the counties of Boone, Campbell, Kenton as well as the independent districts in that area. Jerry's experience as a Kentucky educator ranges from teaching in a one-room school with an enrollment of seventeen students to working as a central office administrator in Pike County School prior to his retirement. During his teaching career in the Pike County district he taught language arts and public speaking (grades 7-12), coached debate and drama, and served as both an elementary and high school principal. Additionally Jerry served as a Scholastic Audit/Review team member during the 2004/2005 process.

Debbie Campbell

Debbie Campbell is the District Support Facilitator for Kentucky's eastern districts. Her experience as a Kentucky educator includes teaching in the Letcher County schools, serving as a central office administrator with Jenkins Independent, and working as a Highly Skilled Educator. In 2002 Debbie was selected as a Fulbright Memorial Fund scholar and traveled to Japan with 200 fellow educators from throughout the United States. During her HSE assignment to Pike County's Majestic Knox Elementary School, she assisted that school in achieving the greatest academic gains in the state for the 2002-2004 biennium. Additionally she served as the team lead for HSE's assigned to schools in the eastern Kentucky region and has served as a team member for numerous Scholastic Audits/Reviews and Guided Self-Studies.

Anthony Sanders

Anthony Sanders serves as District Support Facilitator for Kentucky's western school districts. Anthony has worked in Kentucky's public schools as an elementary and middle school teacher, principal and central office administrator. Prior to working as a DSF he served as an assistant superintendent/superintendent intern with Daviess County Public Schools (2003-04) and as principal at Highland Elementary School in his home district, Christian County, (1994-2003). Anthony has also served as an adjunct faculty member at Hopkinsville Community College. His professional experience includes participating in the Scholastic Audit/Review process, providing professional development, working as technology coordinator, and leading a school's successful implementation of a CSRD grant.

Carol Christian

Carol Christian serves as the District Support Facilitator for northern Kentucky's districts as well as Jefferson and Fayette County. Before her DSF work Carol served as a Highly Skilled Educator (2001-04). She has experience in school administration, supervision, and university teaching including serving as principal at Bourbon County Middle School (1991-2001) assistant middle school principal, and K-12 physical education teacher/coach. She currently is an adjunct assistant professor at Eastern Kentucky University and is an active member in numerous professional organizations. Carol has presented numerous professional development workshops on various topics and has served as a motivational speaker for various groups. Additionally she has participated in the Scholastic Audit/Review and Guided Self-Study processes as both team chair and team member.

Mitch Bailey

Mitch Bailey's regional assignment as District Support Facilitator includes the school districts in south-central and southeastern Kentucky. Mitch served as a Highly Skilled Educator for three years (2001-2004) working at both the district and school level and taught special education in Bell County Schools. Mitch's professional experience also includes the development and delivery of numerous professional development modules, facilitating the implementation of various grants and programs, and promoting collaborative efforts between special education and regular education. He has also worked as part of many Scholastic Audit/Review and Guided Self-Study teams.

Ruth Hatterick

Ruth Hatterick, retired Kentucky educator and administrator, is KDE's Frankfort-based District Support Facilitator serving as a liaison for the other seven DSF's throughout the state. Ruth worked as a Highly Skilled Educator for three years (2000-2003). Prior to her selection as an HSE, she was at Harrison County High School as assistant principal. Her teaching career at Harrison County includes working as language arts instructor, writing cluster leader, department chair, and social studies teacher. Ruth has served as a principal mentor for the Kentucky Principals' Network, as a trainer for the Kentucky Leadership Academy, and as both team chair and member for numerous Scholastic Audits/Reviews. She is an adjunct instructor for Maysville Community College and trainer for the Kentucky Association of School Councils.